CONSERVATIVE CONVENTION

A convention of the Conservative party of the district of Red Deer is called for Saturday, March 22nd, at 2 o'clock, in the Oddfellows' Hall, for the purpose of selecting a candidate to represent the party at the forthcoming election for the Legislative Assembly. All Conservatives will be welcome.

TAMING WILD FLOWERS

A Fascinating Pursuit Open To All

The Rev. J. A. Shortt, M.A., of well known Natural History Society, to the members of the Red Deer Natural History Society on Saturday evening on the development of beautiful garden flowers from their original comparatively insignificant wild form. He described the marvelous improvement in the beauty, both of form and color, so quickly brought about by the removing of wild plants from the sphere of their strenuous struggle for existence and by giving them suitable food and care in a congenial environment. He also spoke of the transformation more gradually managed by scientific selection of "sports" or individuals varying in some respect from the normal type, saving the seeds of these to sow, cross fertilization and similar methods, in which the Barbicans have been so pre-eminently successful, as well as many other less known cultivators.

Mr. Shortt has himself done some work along these lines, and is evidently an enthusiastic florist, from whom the Horticultural Society, as well as the Natural History Society, might well seek assistance and counsel.

Among the better known garden flowers whose ancestry was described were the Columbine, Sunflower, Aster, Daisy Pansy, Marigold, Nasturtium, Scabiosa, Fuchsia, Tulip, Amaranthus, Carnation, Verbena, Poppy, Petunia, Snapdragon, Campanula and Achillea. Many of these were said to be derived from common European wild flowers. Of others the history of their introduction to Europe was narrated, and quotations from the poets, from Chaucer and Shakespeare, of those of our own day, are given to show how the love of flowers has taken hold of the popular imagination.

It was curious to learn that the Nasturtium was first introduced, not as an ornamental flower, but as an anticancer, brought from Peru to Spain in the brave days of Drake and Raleigh. And the crane for the tulip in Scotland, which ran to such lengths that the government prohibited tulip growing altogether, much as gambling is legislated against now, because it brought so many to ruin.

Space does not permit a full report of this very interesting paper, which was enlivened by frequent questions tending to elucidate points of special interest. At the close Mr. Shortt suggested that this was a form of scientific research, and experiment open to all of us who own a garden. There are multitudes of pretty wild flowers all around in summer, which are no doubt capable of as great development as those European ones that have been principally studied by florists.

After the address ensued a general conversation on many of the points raised, the audience being apparently very loth to disperse, all agreeing that the meeting had been one of the most interesting held for some time.

OLD MAIDS' CONVENTION

Listen, good people, to what I say: In the month of March, on the eighteenth day,
The Old Maids will gather from far and near
To hold a Convention in the town of Red Deer.

Some are so lame they can scarcely walk;
Some have no teeth and can hardly talk.
All are peculiar and funny to see;
And also as friendly as they can be.

And now to this line give your closest attention.
They want everyone of us to their Convention.
So whatever you're doing, wherever you are,
Hasten back to Red Deer by horse or car.

For I can assure you that no one can mention,
A thing to compare with "The Old Maids' Convention."
See Brazier's famous stock knife, 75c. Get it.

Red Deer has bloomed out into a full fledged city, and from now on our growth will be faster than ever before.

On Wednesday, last week, the bill was presented to the Municipal Committee of the Alberta Legislature, and passed through the committee of the whole under the charge of E. Michener, member for Red Deer. Mayor Galt was also present and gave valuable aid.

On Monday last the bill was read a third time and finally passed.

(From the Edmonton Journal)

Red Deer is to become a city. It has always seemed to this paper that western communities were too anxious to adopt this designation and that it would be much more sensible to set a certain population mark, say 10,000, and have towns converted into cities when they reached it without the necessity of a special legislative act. It would give a more definite significance to the term. But as things have been, there is no doubt that Red Deer may fairly claim the distinction, and that it will not take long for it to reach such a population that no one will question the fitness of the title.

NEW POST OFFICE.

The long drawn out question of a new post office for Red Deer has been settled at last, and at a meeting of the Conservative executive, held last week, the plans submitted by the Department of the Interior for a handsome $50,000 building, after the plan of the Stratford post office building, were adopted, and the department notified to that effect. It is expected that in the course of a few days tenders will be asked by the Department for the construction of the building, which will be proceeded with at once.

Address on Sir John A. Macdonald

Mr. G. W. Greene gave a splendid address on Sir John A. Macdonald at the Men's Brotherhood on Sunday last.

Mr. Greene traced briefly the humble birth of Sir John in Glasgow, Scotland, his early education, his short practise as a lawyer in the city of Kingston, and then took up a detail his parliamentary career. The speaker traced the difficulties arising out of the Act of Union, which finally suggested to some of the men of vision the possibility of uniting the four provinces of the Dominion into one confederation. Interesting sketches were given of the difficulties encountered, the violent opposition of some of the statesmen of the Maritime Provinces led on by Sir George Howe, the undignified real of such men as George Brown, Dr. Tupper and John A. Macdonald.

"It is doubtful," said the speaker, "if there has ever been a truer example of self-sacrificing statesmanship than that displayed by Sir John Macdonald and Hon. George Brown, when they dropped their personal animosities, their political differences, and joined hands for the bringing about of a united Canada." Mr. Greene closed his address with some personal reminiscences regarding Sir John, after which he read a number of eulogies, the chief of which was the tribute of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, then leader of the opposition in the House of Commons.

G. Hunt, of Calgary. R. B. Welliver, the Liberal candidate, is cordially invited to be present and address the meeting.

THREE MEN SHOT AT ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE

Rocky Mountain House, Alta., March 6th, 1913.—Word has just come in from camp 4 on the C. N. Ry. construction, 20 miles west of here, of the shooting of three men. One of these men had been out shooting in the bush near camp, and his body was found yesterday, with every indication that he had been shot. Whether it was a case of suicide, murder or accident is not yet known. Yesterday morning a man with a 22 rifle was hunting a dog. The rifle went off, and the bullet lodged in the man's bowels. He is still living, but there is little hope of his recovery.

This morning a workman shot a rabbit with a double barreled shotgun. The rabbit fell in some bushes, and he was putting the bush over the gun to get it, when the other barrel discharged into his chest, killing him instantly. A our representative did not learn the names of the three men who were shot. Constable Bruce of the R.N.W.M.P., and Dr. George came out to investigate this afternoon.

There will be a bon fire in Evarts on Victoria Day. Mr. Hastie has got this matter in hand. Make a note of it.

Mr. Riley's Address

Harold Riley, M.P.P., made some splendid points in his address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, which are well worthy of reproduction. He said:

The honorable member of the government in his opening remarks referred to the large majorities that had been given to certain of his ministers in the recent by-elections, and he pointed to that as an indication of the confidence the people have in his government. Well, Mr. Speaker, if the large majority of the honorable member for Cardston, as compared with that was given to his predecessor, is a source of satisfaction to him, then he is welcome to it. If the large majority given to the hon. member for Claresholm is a source of satisfaction and gratification to the government, then they are welcome to all the gratification and pride they can get out of it. The large majority given to the honorable senior member for Edmonton, who it is not in his place, and who, if rumor is true, may not be in his place this session—if the large majority given to that gentleman is a source of gratification, he is welcome to it, but for my own part I would rather see a member on this side of the house defeated in the manner in which the Attorney-General's opponent was defeated, than to have him sit here elected in the manner in which the Attorney-General was reported to have been.

The anxiety that is today being shown by the friends of the honorable Attorney-General in endeavoring to keep the charges that have been made from being heard in a court of law is the best evidence and best proof that can be offered as to the truth of the allegations which have been made.

With respect to the additions that have been made to the cabinet, what do we find? Three out of the four were lawyers. I am sure that the farmers of this country get down on their knees and thanked the first minister for having made such an addition to the cabinet. Today in a cabinet of eight we have five lawyers. That is a source of great satisfaction and pride to the farmers, the artisans and the working classes of the Province of Alberta.

In the public accounts for 1911, on page 30, I find incidental expenses—G. P. Davies, $2,500; W. L. Walsh, $5,000, and C. A. Masten $5,000. These are some of the sums that have been paid. These serve as an indication of the manner in which the government is desirous of saving the people's money for the purpose of constructing roads and bridges throughout the Province.

With respect to the A. & G. W. decision, I want to say that: That the people of Alberta it has given the utmost satisfaction. It is not a moral victory; it is a moral victory. It is a challenge to the world, if you like, that the people of this Province will henceforth be absolutely opposed, as they always have been, to the introduction of legislation of a confiscatory character. The great majority of the people, the rank and file, stand today prepared to discharge their every just debt, and that is the feeling with regard to the A. & G. W. decision today.

Then the honorable the first minister repeated the statement he made before this House that the credit of this province had not been in the least impaired as a result of that decision, that it ranked today as high as any in Canada. Let me read to you for a moment what the Monetary Times has to say regarding that, then the people of this province can come to their own conclusion as to whether or not that decision has had any effect upon them. The London (Eng.) Daily Mail of December 18th last says: "Five and three-quarters per cent. is a very high rate for a Canadian province to have to pay for its money; yet that is what Alberta had to pay yesterday on an issue of a million and a half sterling of six months treasury bills in replacement of those falling due. Rightly or wrongly, the London money market does not view Alberta's securities with great favor. The dispute between the Provincial Government and the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway Co. is partly responsible for this state of affairs. Probably the market has not troubled to enquire deeply into the rights or wrongs of the dispute; the mere fact that it has existed at all is sufficient to affect the market. Alberta is paying 5½ per cent. for money. Apart from the immediate expense, that is a bad thing for the province to have to do. But the lenders are to be congratulated on getting so high a rate on such a security. That is what the London Daily Mail said with regard to the financial standing of this province at the present time in London. I ask the people of this country in the face of statements of that kind whether the credit of this province has or has not been damaged by that confiscatory legislation that was placed on the statutes of this province."

I want to say a few words with respect to natural resources. It is a well known fact to the people of this province that up to the acquisition of power of the Borden government at Ottawa, the Liberal party of this province was not in favor of the acquisition and control of the natural resources of the province. We have on record numerous instances with regard to this subject. They are exhibiting a very keen and close interest in the question, but I can assure them that they are not one bit more keenly alive to the situation than are the members on this side of the house. I would like to point out that before the question of granting the control of the natural resources can be taken up by the present government there is a great deal of work to be done at Ottawa. As was pointed out by the honorable leader of the Opposition yesterday, as a result of the spoils system that was in force for fifteen years during the Liberal regime at Ottawa great tracts of timber and mineral lands in this province were alienated from the province. I have in my hand a list of the timber berths that were granted in this part of the province alone between 1902 and 1905.

Altogether 500 square miles of timber areas in this country were awarded to Mr. Burrows and the Imperial Pulp Co. 320,000 acres of timber lands immediately west and north of the city Edmonton that have been alienated in the manner I have mentioned.

Now, there is another question in connection with that. As you know, these timber berths were acquired between 1912 and 1905. It was at that time that the Grand Trunk Pacific commenced construction, and these lands were secured by the parties mentioned, no doubt on the assumption that the Grand Trunk Pacific was going to build some place in the vicinity of these lands. In fact, it was mentioned in the original application that it would go by way of Dunvegan. That was subsequently changed and it went by way of the Yellow Head Pass. They had not got their line of railway, they had not got the Grand Trunk Pacific, and at the last session of this House the Edmonton, Dunvegan and B. C. old charter, that had been laying dormant for years, and was about to expire, was brought to life, and the government guaranteed this line of railway that is being built very largely for the purpose of getting into touch with these lands.

Now, that brings me to another point. I am going to show just how far this conspiracy goes. In 1906 there was placed on the statutes of this province an act to supplement the revenues of the Crown in the Province of Alberta. I do not think there was an honest man in this country but who was prepared to applaud the government of this province for placing that act on the statutes.

As I said, I do not think there was a honest man but what approved of that legislation. We had been bound down in this province, and are today, by virtue of revenue legislation to the C.P.R. We had been bound down as a result of that and had suffered to a tremendous extent. And when they saw the government of the Province of Alberta attempting to in some way relieve the condition of affairs they were prepared to give their heartiest support. But what followed? As my friend from Rocky Mountain would say, the corporations got in. The government of the province began its railroad policy. They began constructing or guaranteeing construction of thousands of miles of line, and what happened? In 1909 his miserable little amendment was inserted into that act which I have quoted from.

That is the condition of affairs in this country today. The Edmonton, Dunvegan and B.C. Railway has been chartered, the bonds of that line have been guaranteed by this province. There is not a man, woman or child in this province today but what stands back of that guarantee in the event of that company falling down. That line of railway is being built to run very largely the timber limits to which I have referred of Burrows and the Imperial Oil Co., who are practically one and the same thing. That line is going to be exempt from taxation for a period of fifteen years, and then they stand up and they have the audacity and effrontery to stand before an intelligent electorate and talk about exemption in the case of the C.P.R. What do they think the people of this country are? Do they think they are insane? Do they think they are all fit for the asylum they have built at Ponoka? But the day of retribution is close at hand. No wonder the Canadian Northern Western, the Edmonton, Dunvegan and B. C. road and all the rest of them would undertake to construct railways under these conditions. Where is the man, where is the corporation in this province, who would not undertake the construction of railways under these conditions. Scores of them could be found to build railways under these conditions if the facts were only known. The trouble is that the facts are only known to the interested parties. In the face of that legislation, got out among the farmers and prairie about the railway policy. Go out and tell the farmers honestly that you have carried out exactly the same thing that they blame the government for granting to the C.P.R. Let them tell the farmers how they have been practically the same policy.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 12th, 1913

AN EARLY ELECTION.

Every sign points to the fact that the Sifton Government at Edmonton will, within a week or so, bring down a redistribution bill, and then dissolve the House. An attempt will be made to hold the elections about the 24th of April.

DR. CLARK AND THE NAVY.

The unpatriotic and carping attitude taken by Dr. Michael Clark, member for Red Deer in the Dominion House, places himself in a most unenviable position. He appears to have thrown his true British instincts to the four winds of heaven, and has allowed the rag and tag of the tail twisters at Ottawa to sway him as a chip on a turbulent river.

He opposes every suggestion of the Conservative government, and just as nimbly swallows every doubtful suggestion of the Nationalists and the sore heads in the Opposition ranks at Ottawa. His inconsistencies are so marked and amazing that we are constrained to deal with them at some length.

He professes devotion to the Empire, but opposes every action to strengthen its powers on the seas, where its security and its integrity must be maintained.

He opposes an emergency contribution of $35,000,000 for the construction of Canadian dreadnoughts, while he advocates two fleet units which in ten years would cost $150,000,000.

He denies that any emergency exists, although the Imperial government has been compelled to withdraw from the outer oceans to concentrate for home defence.

He protests against the grant of vessels, although the home government frankly declares that this is the best service Canada can perform for the Empire.

He insists two fleet units can be manned in Canada, while Sir Wilfrid found it impossible to get men to man the Niobe and the Rainbow.

He admits the obligation of Canada to assist in sea defence, but would delay for ten or twelve years, until a Canadian service could be established, although with such a service as they would organize the defence of Canada in any serious conflict would still have to be undertaken by the Imperial navy.

He would build all vessels for a Canadian fleet in Canada, although fleet unit at Canadian prices would cost $34,000,000 and at British prices $24,000,000.

He argues that the government is opposed to shipbuilding in the Dominion, although the British Government is under agreement to give contracts for construction of minor vessels in Canadian shipyards.

He represents Dreadnoughts to be built with Canadian money as a service contribution by Canada, although they may be recalled to constitute a nucleus for Canadian fleet units.

He is opposed to representation on Imperial councils, although he and Sir Wilfrid Laurier called out for such representation only a short few months ago.

In fact, Dr. Clark, by his action, does not stand for a strong union of the great British dominions throughout the world, but is in favor of the little Canadian idea of separation and disintegration.

It will not take the thoughtful and loyal people of Canada long to decide which policy they will follow, but they will stand for the policy of greater security, prouder citizenship and the wider outlook extended to the subjects of this glorious Empire on which the sun never sets.

MR. WILTON WRITES
THE ADVOCATE

Amos Wilton, of Great Bend, writes a lengthy letter to the Advocate to the effect that he is afraid he will have to vote against Mr. Michener in the coming provincial election, although he is an old and tried friend of the member for Red Deer. But he is compelled, after deep meditation, to be honest with himself, and the conclusions reached are, that as the Conservatives in the Dominion election turned down reciprocity, the Conservatives in the provinces should be punished.

The same reasoning might be carried to two counsels. Mr. Wilton, to be honest, must admit that in Ontario and Quebec the reciprocity cry was not raised by the Liberals, because they were anti-reciprocity provinces. The Conservatives agreed, and the question did not come up. Sir Wilfrid himself stated in Quebec that it was not an issue there. If it had been, the result would have been different. But in the west it is trotted out on every occasion, although the province has nothing whatever to do with the question in any manner whatever.

Again, if Mr. Wilton desires to be honest with himself, he must admit that Canada will, if reports be true, be allowed free access to the American markets without making any concessions, as the new administration in the United States promises to take down the tariff wall and allow natural products in free of duty.

Designing politicians will draw a herring across the track and bring Dominion issues into Provincial politics, if by so doing they can draw attention from the awful chaos of provincial finances at the present time, when the entire subsidy received from the Dominion to run the province is spent in interest on such shady transactions as the A. & G. W. railway deal and other transactions of a like nature.

With the province paying over $2,000 a day interest on its debts, with no visible means of support, it is time the farmers of Alberta were honest with themselves, and instead of trying to defeat Mr. Michener, they make a bold attempt to wipe the bunch of incompetent politicians at Edmonton from power at the next election.

One of the most disgraceful scenes ever witnessed in the Canadian House of Commons, took place last week, when the Liberal party talked against time in obstructing the business of the Commons on the navy grant. For days nothing but foolish jabbering took place on every conceivable topic by Liberals to prevent a vote on the question. Tens of thousands of dollars of the people's money was wasted, and this week the Government will, if the Liberals continue their blockade of the bill, insist on a strict enforcement of the present rules of order, and the opposition will be forced to confine their discussion to the clause of the bill under consideration.

The Liberal government at Edmonton turned down the motion to tag railways the other day, introduced by the Conservatives. This, if adopted, would make railways pay taxes like other people. The sum realized would be about $680,000 a year. When it comes to taxing the farmer, the Sifton administration go the whole hog; but when the great corporations are asked to pay their fair share, the Liberal members oppose such a thing to the last man. The Socialist member voted with the Imperial.

MUCH COMMENT OVER
DR. CLARK'S STATEMENT.

Ottawa, Ont., March 6th.—There is considerable comment on the utterance of Tuesday of Dr. Clark of Red Deer, when he declared that many Alberta farmers were about to move to the States. This declaration is more remarkable by reason of the fact that W. J. White, commissioner of immigration agencies in the States, says that this year 200,000 American farmers will settle in Canada from three states alone, Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma.

This month arrangements have been made to send 300 cars of settlers' effects to Canada.

Cheques issued to Duncan Marshall amounted to $23,450. The provincial auditor not having received a single voucher, declared that he had to accept Mr. Marshall's word as to the purchases made to be made with this money. Mr. Marshall may have never heard it so stated; but we have heard, and do know that this system of handling public accounts is an open door for the entrance of graft, which is a thing more or less essential to the maintenance of an effective party machine—Calgary Herald.

THE CITY OF RED DEER.

(Calgary Albertan)

Red Deer has decided that it will not be a suburb of Calgary, nor yet of Edmonton. It proposes to be a centre of civilization unto itself. Its growth for the last two or three years has been rapid and continuous, and it feels that the time has arrived to emerge from the shadow of town status into the full glare of cityhood. Its determination to seek a city charter is an indication of its ambition and its optimism.

Red Deer is the natural halfway house between Calgary and Edmonton. It is almost one hundred miles from either city. It is the centre of an agricultural district of exceptional fertility, and while it probably does not aspire to rival either Calgary or Edmonton—at least, not at present—as a commercial centre, it has every reason to look forward with confidence to a prosperous future. In the west, with its comparatively sparse population, cities are at present separated by immense distances, but a glance at the map of Eastern Canada or the more densely populated States shows many important cities almost shoulder to shoulder. With the increase of population, the same growth of important cities will be noted in the Canadian West, and especially in Alberta, where the latent possibilities per square mile are probably greater than anywhere else on the continent.

The older cities of Alberta welcome the latest arrival into the family.

"Social legislation is at the front now; but, after all, nothing that a government can do is more important than the manner in which it collects and disburses public revenue. To many reformers this may seem a sordid view—but it is true."

This was an opinion expressed by a paper down in the States, and not an Alberta journal, but it is a very apt remark bearing on the financial mix-up by the Sifton government at Edmonton.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Red Deer, the sixth city of Alberta. Watch our smoke.

Owing to a serious illness, Hon. Dr. Roche may resign as Minister of the Interior, and R. B. Bennett, M. P. for Calgary, is mentioned as his probable successor. Mr. Bennett, as is amply proved by the passion, and would fill the office with great credit to the west and the city that honors him as its representative.

P. W. Archer, the old war horse in the Innisfail constituency is putting up a great fight against the sitting member, and everything points to a big majority for him if the elections are held this spring.

While all the snow has vanished, and farmers are already harvesting their land in some places in this district, they are still battling with snow drifts down in Ontario.

If all the gas uselessly wasted at Ottawa could be bottled up, the people would have enough power to run the city plant for forty years.

J. F. Day says he thinks Steve Wilson covered the ground would be cheaper than Mr. Welliver's suggested roads with a ditch two feet wide on each side and the centre covered with a coating of tar.

It is hoped the Commissioners will, as soon as possible put Gazette Ave. South in a good condition, as the lack of drainage and the clay played on it last fall has made it almost anything but pleasant to travel over lately.

The Blind Guide says Rocky Mountain House needs a little more grit. Perhaps the thought, "The Guide is about all the grit needed in the western burg."

Canada paid four million dollars for eggs and butter brought in from the United States last year. That doesn't look as though we needed a larger market for these farm products.

Marianne

Marianne wants an organ for the school house, and means to get it by means of a box social, which it hopes to hold on the 2nd of April. This the more than a box social; it will be a first class entertainment, in which music will take a leading part. Mrs. York has promised to lend a piano for the occasion, and of course the Marianne household hand will be there. Those who know the kind of entertainment that Marianne can arrange will, of course, keep this night open; for the rest, let them come and see. Mrs. Blay has got this matter in hand.

By the way, Marianne will have a bon fire on Victoria Day, probably on the highest point of Yorkville.

The Crisis in England

To the Editor of The News.

Dear Sir,—

I wonder how many of us are paying attention to the affairs of the Old Country at the present time. Some may say, what has it got to do with us? I think it has a whole lot to do with us. We are a colony of loyal British subjects, and as such we should be alive to the dangers that threaten our Mother Land. We have always had her protection, and there cannot be any doubt in anyone's mind that we owe our position in the world today as a great country, not because of our energy alone, but because of the fact that we are a British colony with British traditions, backed up by the Mother Land, who is still the greatest power on earth.

We are told by some of the leading men of the country that there is no crisis. If that is so, what have they to say about the following facts: Germany, that is considered by many to have the best equipped army and navy in the world, is proposing to spend $250,000,000 on the rearmament of her army. The German press is up in arms about this, describing it as a war tax. The Boersen Courier says: "One imposes a tax of this kind only at times, of the gravest need, when it is urgent to act quickly and the necessity for national sacrifice is imperative."

Following the announcements of the German press, Karl Peters has an article in the London Daily Mail, illustrating the uneasiness of England's governing and military classes as Germany's open challenge to France when she hung down the gauntlet by deciding to spend $250,000,000 in addition to the already huge military budget. The Pall Mall Gazette says: "The primary threat is to France. Germany offers to her the alternative of being her brother, or crushed. In either case, should France be destroyed, or forced unwillingly to Germany's side, nothing remains to England but to face single-handed a conflict with France. Winston Churchill, one of England's clearest men, says that England can only save herself, and save Europe, as she did in Napoleon's days, by unflinching determination to maintain the supremacy of the seas, and by all the states of the Empire presenting a united front. France can then count on England's naval help in the event of Germany's attack. Can we read such messages from England's strong men, and then believe there is no crisis? No, sir; and yet what do we see in our own papers? Just at the time when Canada's assistance is needed, the Canada that boasts of her loyalty? We see the Liberal representatives of the peace party, after day, standing up in the House at Ottawa and fighting, tooth and nail, the temporary assistance of this great wealthy country of a sum of money to build dreadnoughts, which will eventually be returned to our own navy. I do not believe the people of this country are in accord with what is being done by the Liberal representatives at Ottawa. I believe they resent the present tactics of the Opposition, and I for one am convinced that what they are doing is not for the good of the country; they are trying to get back into power, by any and every means available, not for the country's sake, but for their own. It is a disgrace to a country that is considered so loyal to have her representatives acting in such a manner in the use of an emergency, and no credit is coming to Dr. Clark, Red Deer's representative, for the part he is taking in the matter; and those who voted for him must feel disgusted at least those from the Old Country, who voted for him simply on the grounds that he was an Englishman. I have had expressed to me by some of the prominent workers in the last Dominion election the unvarnished fact that they have no use for his presence, and regret having voted for him.

England must have the support of her colonies right now. She cannot afford to wait till Canada is ready to build a navy of her own, and while such a strenuous opposition is being put up against the emergency grant, a delay is taking place that may be regretted for generations to come. We are a vital part of the Empire, and should act as such. I maintain that if we are not aware of the state of Europe's affairs, it is our duty to find out. The peace of the world is maintained by the strength of British navy, and it is time we all realised that fact.

New Method of Teaching Music

(Edmonton Bulletin).

A number of ladies interested in music gathered on Monday afternoon in the ladies' parlour of McQuigley Methodist Church to hear Miss Ruth Ritchie, of the Dakota, give a demonstration of the Fletcher method of teaching music to children. Miss Ritchie has for some years taught by this method very successfully in the United States and will be an acquisition to the musical profession in this city. During her talk, the speaker explained how ear-training, musical thought and expression were taught to very young children by means of games, blackboard work, pasting work and pad books. Keyboard knowledge was also by games and technique by free gymnastics. Every thing studied is memorized and singing is also enjoyed by the little ones. Miss Ritchie gave several piano solos composed by girls of from eight to nine years, who had been pupils of the Fletcher system.

EASY VICTIMS OF CLEVER ROGUES

Fortune Telling Fakir Did a Big Business—Clients Were Mostly Women

Something like 1,500 letters contain testimony to the fact that a certain "Professor" were sent in one batch by the Montreal Post Office to the department at Ottawa. Most of these letters came from young women in the United States and Canada who, misled "inside information," and were willing to pay for it.

The young women wanted to know what their future husbands would look like—whether to marry the tall fall man or the short dark fellow. For the small sum of two dollars the "Professor" guaranteed to event the desired information from the stars.

Cash Rolled In
The professor advertised in a number of magazines and newspapers, and for a time the money just poured in. He was first heard of in St. John N.B., where the post office authorities quickly put him out of business. Then for a short time he did a thriving business at St. Lambert, Quebec. Finally the professor changed his address to Montreal. About that time the post office authorities in that city became suspicious of him, and the professor in turn became wary and resisted to call for his mail.

Women are the easiest victims for such sharks. They send money to learn medicine or how to make garments at home. Patent medicine enterprises and matrimonial bureaus are also among the most prolifically employed.

Another Scheme
Upon the representations of a Florida land company a Montreal man purchased some land in Florida with a view to acquiring a quick and easy fortune raising cattle. Investigation of the purchase proved the "city" to be a bogus place twenty or twenty-five miles from the nearest settlement. A specimen of the soil on his land was submitted to the Dominion Experimental Farm at Ottawa. Following is the report the Montrealer received from Ottawa:

"An examination of the sample accompanying your letter shows it to be practically pure sand. It would be of no agricultural value and I do not think that any treatment with fertilizer with the view of making it productive, would prove remunerative."

"We close about five or six swindlers a year," said a post office inspector. "But the Canadian laws are becoming so strict that get-rich-quick-brokers are not using the mails to defraud to any great extent now."

INDIANS NOW WORK

Scarcity of Game and Fur Animals Brought About the Change

That day is coming to an end when the red man will live as a hunter, hunter and trapper is declared in a report of the Indian Department issued at Ottawa. The report states that the game for fur-bearing animals in many districts is being rapidly depleted, and the Indians are being forced to turn to agriculture. The earnings of the red man in agriculture for one year amounted to $1,464,347, and in wages to $1,616,046. But in hunting and trapping during the same time they made $9,457,127. A Canadian Indian population is placed at 104,556, and the Eskimo population at 4,600. The additions to the Province of Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec added 7,619 Indians to the Indian population of these provinces, and reduced the total in the North-West Territories to 5,252. Ontario has more Indians than any other province, a total of 26,293. British Columbia formerly led, but the addition to Ontario brought in 3,237 Indians.

A HEAVY DRINK BILL

Lawyer Says Edmonton Consumes More Than its Share of Liquor

Calculating the expenditure on liquor at $10 per head for every person in the Dominion, Alex. Stuart, C.E., in an address at Edmonton, said that in a town of the population of Edmonton it meant that if drink were abolished there would be an annual expenditure of $500,000 available for schools, hospitals and civic improvements. As a matter of fact the expenditure per head on intoxicating liquor in the Dominion was larger than in any other country. The total expenditure being annually $81,000,000, whereas the population was only something over seven millions. Further, he was of opinion that in proportion to the population there was no place in Canada where there was so much liquor drunk as in Edmonton.

FINE FISH IN NORTH

Monster Salmon Trout Weighing Twelve Pounds Won Big Prize

The first grand prize for salmon trout in the $2,000 fishing contest, organized by "Field & Stream," a New York publication was awarded to Mr. George W. Collier of Bordentown, N.J., for a fish caught at Lake Two Rivers in Algonquin National Park. After a terrific battle lasting nearly an hour Mr. Collier succeeded in landing his salmon trout which proved to be 12 pounds in weight, 30½ inches in length and 18 inches in girth. On one afternoon during the same trip Mr. Collier and two friends caught 11 trout that weighed together 35 pounds.

FISH WEALTH OF CANADA

Important Industry of the Lakes—Salmon as an Experiment

The fishing industry of Canada is an important asset in our national financial statement. It is one of those subjects on which little has been written in a form which is interesting to the general public, although much valuable information may be found in Government blue books. The average yearly catch for the Dominion is valued at about $20,000,000, about half of which is exported and the other half consumed at home—about $2.00 worth of fish per year being the average consumption for each Canadian.

The Port Arthur Hatchery

The latest fish hatchery really one at Port Arthur on Lake Superior. This hatchery has an annual capacity of turning out fish fry, which, at maturity, will represent a catch of the enormous total of $10,000,000 yearly. The hatchery is equipped for the propagation mainly of lake trout, as owing to the rocky and clay formation of Lake Superior, trout find their native haunts on the shores of the Lakes. A certain percentage of white fish are also being hatched out, as there are a few handy spawning beds in the smaller bays, which form the native haunts of the white fish. A very interesting experiment is also being tried out in the placing of salmon fry in the lake as it is believed that a very valuable salmon fishing industry can be established at Port Arthur.

Fishing as a sport is also being given serious attention at this hatchery, and brook trout and salmon fry are to be placed in the streams and brooks surrounding the city.

In the Hatchery

A walk through the fish hatchery is a very instructive and interesting sight. The spawn, after being taken from the mother fish in the fall—and this is usually collected by the officers of the Fishery Department from the fishing tugs—is brought to the hatchery and distributed in trays, over which there is a constant stream of cold water running. It takes, on the average, 195 days for the spawn to germinate into living fish. It is very interesting to pick up the little round globes, which look like balls of gelatin, and holding them up in the light see the eyes and the dim outline of the form of the minute fish inside. Only a small percentage of the spawn die. The dormant eggs are readily detected as they turn white upon the atom of life within becoming extinct. After the baby fish extricates itself from its globular cell it is fed for two weeks on grated beef liver. By this time it is not more than a quarter of an inch long, and is then taken out and placed in the spawning beds at certain times to foster the young and growing fry. Three years is the usual time taken for fish to mature.

Advent of Cheap Camera a Boon to Baby Worshipers

"The average baby of today," said the grandfather of one, "is as much pictured as royalty. I don't mean that this baby's picture gets into the newspapers as often as the Prince's does, but there are as many taken of it for home admiration."

"I can remember back to the time when far fewer pictures of babies were made, when the only pictures of anybody other than painted portraits, were those taken, in the old time daguerreotype galleries. To take a baby to one of these galleries was something of a task; and when you had got him there might not be awake, or he might not be good his mother, in the arms of his father; and it is as much happily be, all its grand parents are living the baby is photographed held by each and every one of them. Also, it is photographed held in the arms of each of its aunts and uncles."

"And then the baby is photographed in all its various apparel; in its first short clothes; and with hat on and hat off; and in its carriage. When I come to consider the many times and occasions on which we take the baby's picture I am inclined to think that in that first year we take a hundred pictures of him."

"The baby is photographed at various ages held in the arms of its mother; in the arms of its father; and it is as much happily be, all its grand parents are living the baby is photographed held by each and every one of them. MEMORIAL HOSPITAL ANNUAL MEETING

President's Report

The following address was delivered by President F. H. Tallman, of the Hospital Board, at the annual meeting, Friday last. The financial statement follows the address:

Ladies and Gentlemen:— This is our twelfth annual meeting of members. It seems hardly possible that our hospital has been established now over the twelve years. In looking back over our records it is very interesting to note the increase in our work year by year. Five years ago we treated just 200 patients in the twelve months; last year we had 340, quite a large increase.

I am afraid that the high cost of living has affected us in common with the rest of the world and raised our daily rate of keeping a patient. Last year it was $1.49; this year it is $1.58, an increase of 6 cents a day. Usually, the greater number of patients, the lower the per capita cost. One thing I am sure of, there is no hospital can be more economical than this one. I have examined into the cost of other hospitals in past years, and find that the Holy Cross, at Calgary, and the St. Mary's, at Lethbridge had rates approximating ours, although the number of patients were considerably more than we had last year. I mention these two hospitals because I think they are run as economically as I think for several years now we have not solicited subscriptions, but a few friends have given voluntary donations. Most business men feel that it is most equitable for the town at large to contribute to a municipal corporation. We did, as you may see from the financial statement, receive a grant of $800.00 from the town last year, but we may be compelled to ask for more this year. We are practically a charitable institution, depending on free and voluntary assistance in a large degree, and are no mean distributors, for during the year just past we rendered services to the sick and injured which, if paid for at the regular rates, would have amounted to upwards of $2,000.00.

You will perhaps remember that heretofore to procure the same we received a grant of 50¢ a day for non-paying patients and 25¢ a day for paying patients. This has now been reduced to 25¢ a day for non-paying patients and 12¢ a day for paying patients. This means a difference of $476.00 to us last year. The provincial grants we received last year did not nearly cover the amount of work done in the same period. Our own citizens, represented by the Ladies' Aid, the Alexandra Club, the Red Deer Hospital Aid, the Western General Co., and innumerable other friends, have all, as usual, contributed to the hospital, and on behalf of the board of directors I beg to tender them my very heartiest and grateful thanks. We are particularly fortunate here in Red Deer in this respect, and I wish to emphasize this fact because we would have a far less attractive revenue account to show if we lacked this aid.

Our inventories show that our hospital furniture and fittings are valued at $4,150.00. I think I can say that the greater part, if not all of this, has been supplied by the ladies. You can more than double this sum to arrive at the probable amount they have spent altogether, for they are constantly purchasing such things for maintenance and which do not appear as assets in a balance sheet. As an illustration of the substantial help we are receiving, I am happy to inform you that four wards in our new addition have lately been furnished, for which not a cent of the general funds of the hospital have been touched. The Ladies' Aid, the Alexandra Club and the Red Deer Hospital Aid have each furnished one. The fourth was furnished by Mr. Sayre, of Newburgh, New York. This gentleman, who is now a citizen of Red Deer, but a great personal friend of the McLeod family, furnished this ward in remembrance of his daughter, McLeod, nee Sayre, a D.D. Mr. Sayre is a gentleman who appreciates that a hospital is not the easiest of institutions to run and the fact of his donation proves his deep interest in our hospital and that he considers ours a very worthy one. Others have intimated their intention of furnishing other wards.

The maintenance of hospitals has always been a vexed question. As yet there does not appear to have been a solution of the problem. The provincial authorities have recognized it in a way by making periodical grants with varying degrees of merit, and by giving municipalities authority to assist in hospital maintenance or by having municipally owned and operated hospitals, which appears to us to be the reverse of what it should be. Hospitals should be provincial in character, owned by and operated by the province, and if need be the cities, towns and municipalities could assist in the finances in some relation to the benefits received by them. In this way hospitals would be more uniform in their work and the maintenance not so likely to be a burden on the community. During the year we enlarged the hospital building at a cost of upwards of $15,000 when all complete. We have increased the capacity so as to be able to accommodate 100 patients. The heating has been changed from hot air to steam throughout the entire building. The operating room is entirely modern and up-to-date, and within a few days one of the latest approved X-ray machines will be installed. These improvements will give the patient as good a hospital service as can be found in large cities.

We had hoped to have been able to erect a nurse's home last year. Plans were prepared and accepted for this work, but the season was too far advanced last year before we were quite ready to go on with the work. We hope to be able to push this this year.

We have organized a training school for nurses, and at present have four probationers. We pride on having a sufficiently efficient staff to do this. Miss Kingston has the matter well in hand, and the doctors are collaborating in the work, so that we hope to be able to give the necessary training to enable any woman who takes the course to fit herself for the profession just as well, if not better, than she could at a larger hospital. The small institution has this advantage over the large one: A nurse's work is more diversified, and she is not so liable to be kept at the same kind of work all the time as in a larger hospital.

In mentioning our new addition I omitted to state that there have been some extras, things we found we had to have, which have run over the estimated cost. For one we had the old building painted so as to conform to the new part. We do not think this could have possibly been left over to a later date, and it probably cost less as the workmen were on the ground.

In closing my report, I would like to say that I do not think there can be a better staff of nurses anywhere than we have, nor a more conscientious, able and painstaking Superintendent than Miss Kingston, a lady we cannot think too highly of. The staff of a hospital makes its reputation, and you know what ours is. My personal thanks are due to my co-directors for their hearty support and the loyal confidence which they have shown me in my position as President. We have had a very busy year, and I very much appreciate the help they have given, particularly in building matters.

We all deplore the necessity of hospital work, and when we give our statistics we do not regard them in the light we would those of a commercial undertaking. Increases in hospital statistics merely convey to us the fact that we are serving a large public, and of course we are pleased to do where the necessity exists. Our statistics show that we provide in population right in Red Deer; that our reputation extends abroad. We have patients from a country stretching from Olds to Ponoka, and to the eastward to the limits of the province. This is a large territory, and in many cases either Edmonton or Calgary would be nearer than we are. The fact that it is a measure of satisfaction in the fact that our efforts to serve humanity are appreciated, although we have by no manner of means reached our ideals.

F. H. TALLMAN, President.

Just a year ago Red Deer West Lots were selling at $125 and $150 each.

Today these lots are reselling at $200 and $225 each.

The early purchasers of Red Deer West—those citizens with faith and foresight—now realize handsome profits on their investment. And the good is not yet—Red Deer West Lots will continue to show a healthy increase.

Red Deer West Lots are better buying today than ever. The property shows a splendid development in 1912 and we are confident that in 1913 Red Deer West will show even greater progress.

There are only a few pairs of lots to be had on those generous terms—$10 cash and $5 per month per lot.

Make up your mind right now to get a pair of these lots.
